

Sarah

Jon Allen

Well my Head is full of questions
Laying heavy on my mind
And I've been looking for an answer
When there really was no answer there to find

Now my heart feels like an ocean
And I'm just looking for the shore
I thought I knew where I was going
But the truth is I can't feel it anymore

Oh Sarah I've walked through this misty morning
Sarah I've walked down this lonesome road
Sarah there is nothing I want from you
Just to see you one more time and then I'll go

Maybe I'm just like this old road
You may see my seasons change
I might be wearing different colours
But the place I always end up is the same

Oh Sarah I've walked through this misty morning
Sarah I've walked down this lonesome road
Sarah there is nothing I want from you
Just to see you one more time and then I'll go
