

Sundancing

Jon Anderson

I, he said, release, hold it there
Cannot hold it down at all anymore
I begot a singer of song
How it looked to find this destiny there
I, he said, release to the laws
As he set to find the answer to give
How he chased so far for the laws
They would change his whole perception to live
See the sun can dance to the sky
So he walked to path a mountain to climb
With a song he walked right up to the sky
There, amazed, he saw as clear as the day
Getting into tune, we shout at the system
How we play, this man-made dream of the fear
Howe play, this man-made dream of desire
Howe we dance awake this song of the earth
Come along
The four new laws will enter the world
Add a new dimension changing it all
One new law, we travel so fast
Number two will be the salt of the earth
Number three will be our guide to the stars
Number four will be the witness to love
As the four new laws will enter the world
As the four new laws will enter the world
Come alive, the singers out of the sun
Come alive, the dancers out of the moon
Come alive, the passion all to the great
We can dance the Sundance all of the way
Can you dance the dream awake in your life
As he said, release, can't hold any longer
Only wanted too
Ever wanted too
Getting ready too
Always wanted too
As it ever is
As it ever will
As it ever can
As it ever is
Get, get, get, get, get, get what you need
See the four new laws will enter the world
See the four new laws will enter the world
See the four new laws will enter the world
See the four new laws will enter the world
