

Amnesia

Jon B.

lets make a bran new bed,
on a bran new night,
when the dry sand is wet by the ocean tide, be the center of my distraction, my mind can't resist, blinded by this attraction my hearts only interest, whatever was before now seems to fade away.
when we make love like ocean reef's meet crashing waves, have to guess that's why, they say love is blind. could've been in a hurricane.
could've been in the middle of the eye.

your love gives me amnesia, from all our memories secret's forgot myself with you when i lost my self into this
your love gives me amnesia dream'n and we're not asleep cause we're one, no longer two when we lose ourselves into this.

i wanna see my life
the way it looks in your mind.
how i've always dreamed, now there's no need to fantasize like a shipwreck on a beach, when i'm lost in your eye's like an s.o.s. sign i don't want anyone but u to find.
if the past comes look'n for us like a rescue plane in sight. spotlight on all our secret's there's nothing for us to hide. no survival kit for us, just plain 'ol u and me nothing but this fire to burn away memory i keep forgetting what people have told me, that's why i hang on every word u say, i keep forgetting i must have been so lonely, whatever was distracting no longer's in the way no matter what direction the wind is blowing some how it all just fits right into place no matter where i had planned on going, i've always known that i've been search'n for your face...
