

Drowning

Jon B.

standing at the edge of the cliff looking over the water there it crossed our minds how we could fall fall do u remember the day
u decided to jump and trust i would follow u may have hesitated but i couldn't let u fall alone long as were here together my baby, all my fears have gone yeah
if every moments breath taking.
take them all

i told u not to fall in love with me, but u did now we're drowning told u that we would both fail in now we're both swimming in the deep end drowning ft our love there's nothing we can d0 it happened there's no point in trying to fight it drowning in our love the tide is getting stronger now ano love wants to pull us under our hearts are racing with the waves let's surrender to it all lookin' back, there's nothing to save i've accepted all that is to come this love is making tidal waves neither one of us can run from

my baby all our fears have gone away
while everyone else is save at shore afraid of what we weren't scared to explore as the moon rises we shift with the tides and i'll never let you go
bringin' us closer to where we could be
every stream that leads to the sea
