We All Need Saving

Jon McLaughlin

Come on, come on You have got to move on This is not the you i know This isn't real It's just all you can feel And that's the way that feelings go And whether or not it's right or wrong you'll do what you will do

When the cloud in the sky starts to pour And your life is just a storm you're braving Don't tell yourself you can't lean on someone else Cause we all need saving sometimes

Say what you will but the time that we fill While we're on the earth Should not be alone We were meant to be known You make me what i'm worth But i can't keep you from yourself you'll do what you will do

I don't know why it has to be this way and I don't know the cure But please believe someone has felt this before
