

You Are The One I Love

Jon McLaughlin

I would never ever let you go.
All this fighting's really just a show
We put on behind doors that everyone knows aren't closed.

And all these eyes are watching in the dark
Put in black wholes in the stars
We used to think were ours until they fell apart.
Right now they seem so far.

But all I know
Is the way you hold my heart,
But all that shows
Is the way we fall apart
To the world I hate.
You are the one I love.
They'll say what they'll say,
But they'll never say enough.

I'll sing it more than once
That you are the one I love.
After all of the things we've said and done
You are the one I love.
There are couples, couples everywhere.
Oh, why, oh, why does everyone care?
It's hard to be me and you when all that everyone does is stare
Oh, all that they do is stare.

But all I know
Is the way you hold my heart,
But all that shows
Is the way we fall apart
To the world I hate.
You are the one I love.
They'll say what they'll say,
They'll never say enough.

Why can't we hide away?
All that I need's your faith
To remind me that I feel this way.

All I know
Is the way you hold my heart,
But all that shows
Is the way we fall apart
To the world I hate.
You are the one I love.
They'll say what they'll say,
They'll never say enough.

And to the world I hate
You are the one I love.
They'll say what they'll say,
They'll never say enough

I'll sing it more than once
But you are the one I love,
And you are the one I love
