Nothing Hurts Like Love Hurts

Jonatha Brooke

Nothing hurts like love hurts Nothing else helps when it's gone Nothing's worse and there's nothing better You're either love's prince or its pawn

I have had it and held it I have sung love's bitter song I have squandered ephemeral moments And God knows I've tasted love's wrongs

There's not a day I don't miss you Not a day I don't hate you too My toxic, exquisite, desperate mess It was always you... we always knew...

Nothing hurts like love hurts Nothing else helps when it's gone Nothing's worse and there's nothing better You're either love's prince or its pawn.