

Fur Coat Roaming Like Animals

Jonezetta

You were sleeping alone
I called you on the telephone
The fur coat in your room was roaming around like animals do

You look so nice in soft and kind eyes
You were so surprised
Won't you come alive

You were dancing along
Singing "everything" I didn't know
I want to know your name
Not that it would matter anyway

You look so nice in soft and kind eyes
You were so surprised
Won't you come alive

There was nothing to do
Lay around your dusty room
She uses her toes, changing the channels to the radio

You look so nice
Can I stay the night?
You were so surprised in soft and kind eyes.
