

Legend Man

Jorn

It's time to rock the hour
My time to be a king
This place of sign and wonder
It doesn't mean a thing
I'll grow my own religion
In fire I will stand
And be a legend man
Oh yes I can

This heart is like a wasteland
It's open to the wind
And I don't have a game plan
But still I play to win
I'll write my vision future
I'll carve my name in stone
A legend makes his throne

Looking out of my black
Straight into the sun
Burning demons in my brain again
In the flame of the spotlight
I call for the moon night
Living for the magic to the end

Rise up you broken warrior
Use power from the real
Break down your wall of silence
I know the truth you feel
Unscrew your pain and scream it
Dig out the dream you saw
The liar stands in awe

Staring out from the black your eyes on the sun
Blinded angel you must try again
In the heat of the daylight
You long for the midnight
Calling for the magic till the end

Stumbling around in my black got nowhere to run
Burning in the shadow to the end
Gonna bring some thunder
Rock you down and under
Like a speed train to your brain again
Fight your lonely war
One life then never more
Another legend will be born again
In the ray of the spotlight
He calls in the moon night
Living with the magic to the end