Joseph Arthur

We don't know which way we're going Don't know where we are Find a way out, find a way Home is somewhere I'm missing When I look around Find a way out, find a way

Hell has no reason to smile When you're living in an innocent world You once had a heart like a child Now it's buried under sadness and guilt

We don't know which way we're going Don't know where we are Find a way out, find a way Home is somewhere I'm missing When I look around Find a way out, find a way

Hell has no reason to smile When you're living in an innocent world You once had a heart like a child Now it's buried under sadness and guilt

Don't run away
Don't run away
Don't run away now
Don't run away
Don't run away
Don't run away now
