

Love Never Asks You to Lie

Joseph Arthur

November twelfth and it is a nice night to pretend
That nothing will come at me like you did again
I could see it in your eyes and felt it in your touch
That you were as close to the truth as anything ever was

Heard you cry
Love never asks you to lie
Take off your evil disguise
I can see clear through your eyes

Western Union, Cadillacs, bankers and ice cream
Breaking windows, singing spirituals, ring like memories
At the graduation ceremony, setting our sights free
There is never gonna be another you and me

Heard you cry
Love never asks you to lie
Take off your evil disguise
I can see clear through your eyes

And they say it's going to shoot you
Shoot you down
When you walk around the corner
Of this ghost town
You know they say it's going to shoot you
Shoot you down

Heard you cry
Love never asks you to lie
Take off your evil disguise
I can see clear through your eyes
