Real As Rain

Joseph Arthur

If I show you who I am Would you stay? It's not hard to understand Why you went away

Reaching out for love To feel a hide out in your heart And steal a graceful hand to hold And help me to regain control Real as any rain

Must there always be a prayer To buy or sell Pretending you were never there As you crawl out of yourself

Reaching out for love To feel a hide out in your heart And steal a graceful hand to hold And help me to regain control Real as any rain

I watched you come And I watched you turn away With seagulls flying all along the shore Asking you to stay

Something is always gonna come Between me and you Both of us know how to run More then fallow thru

Reaching out for love To feel a hide out in your heart And steal a graceful hand to hold And help me to regain control Real as any rain

All your rain is gonna come down Child of your pain All you rain is gonna come down Real As any rain
