Ulysses

Josh Garrels

I'm holding on to the hope that one day this could be made right. I've been shipwrecked, and left for dead, and I have seen the darkest sights. Everyone I've loved seems like a stranger in the night But Oh my heart still burns, tells me to return, and search the fading light.

I'm sailing home to you I wont be long By the light of moon I w ill press on Until, I find, my love

Trouble has beset my ways, and wicked winds have blown Sirens c all my name, they say they'll ease my pain, then break me on th e stones But true love is the burden that will carry me back ho me Carry me with the, memories of the, beauty I have known

I'm sailing home to you I wont be long By the light of moon I w ill press on

So tie me to the mast of this old ship and point me home Before I lose the one I love, before my chance is gone I want to hold , her in, my arms
