

Holy, holy, holy is the lamb

Almighty, almighty, almighty is the Lord

It's unlocked in his left are the keys to death and hell

And in his other palm are seven stars

Silently circling like seven seals and sounds and seven cycles

Seventy sets of seven are prophesied

Before the king comes from heaven

The earth will quake and men's hearts will shake

When they hear the war drum

And I'm talking about creator of the mountains

I'm talking about the one who gave up his son

I'm singing about the one who died for everyone

And in his blood he's giving us real freedom

Brought by one, bought by one son

Someone from the kingdom come

He was, and is, and is to come

Healing the deaf and dumb

His words cut the dark like a sharp weapon light

Wrong or right?

All mankind was blind and he came to give us sight

Wrong or right?

Tell me, what is it about the name of Jesus Christ

It makes men fight within

Against the sin, against the night, dark or light

Day and night

Polarized

This is not a grey matter choice

And don't blame it on another mans voice

Because time keeps on slipping, into the future

I don't lose you

You must make a decision soon

Be it life, or death

Holy, holy, holy, is the Lamb

That was slain, that was slain

Worthy is his name, worthy is his name

YHWH

He was, and is, and is to come

He was, and is, and is to come
