I know you said when I left, Id regret every word Every breathe, every step, every minute without you, go do what you have to

I know I said you were wrong Id move on

It was only a matter of time till Id make it without you but th is wasn't about you

I said I needed space, a change of place to go out and live my life

I don't wanna live without you anymore

And what I wouldn't give to get us back to the way it was befor e

I admit I was wrong all along, now you're gone with all that Id been living for

I don't wanna live without you anymore

For a couple of nights I was fine, I was high off the wine and the lights

And my new found freedom that I thought i needed

But that cold lonely room that I headed home to, it felt like a tomb

I just stared at the ceiling, what an empty feeling and, baby, I apologize

And tell me its not too late

I don't wanna live without you anymore

And what I wouldn't give to get us back to the way it was befor e

I admit I was wrong all along, now you're gone with all that Id been living for

I don't wanna live without you anymore

I don't wanna live without you anymore

And what I wouldn't give to get us back to the way it was befor e

I admit I was wrong all along, now you're gone with all that Id been living for

I don't wanna live without you anymore

No, I don't wanna live without you anymore
