

Only When It Rains

Josh Gracin

I can hear the sound
It's really coming down
Bring on the pain
Water on your skin
Where do I begin
We got caught in the rain
Still think about that night
It was the first, the last time, I ever held you tight

I can hear her voice call my name
So caught up there in the moment
So much passion and emotion
Then it fades as the clouds roll away
Yes I still think about you every now and then
But only when it rains

Looking out I see
Where we use to be
Soaked through our clothes
Nothings ever changed
And it never will
Even though I know what I know now

I can hear your voice call my name
So caught up there in the moment
So much passion and emotion
Then it fades as the clouds roll away
Yes I still think about you every now and then
But only when it rains

I can't forget you
No not at all
As thunder sounds and lightening strikes
When the first drops start to fall

I can hear your voice call my name
So caught up there in the moment
So much passion and emotion
Then it fades as the clouds roll away
Yes I still think about you every now and then
I still think about you every now and then
But only when it rains
