Machine

Josh Groban

Rising above tension below Learn from the in-between Blinded by trust, asleep to the truth Awakened by disbelief Somewhere I found strength in my soul Still you refuse to see

Are you sure I'm not all right? 'Cause lately I've been feeling fine! Every lifeline leads its own way to the heavens But I have seen you run in circles, unforgiven Is there anything in this world that can make you stop?! Oh, you're a machine!

A world of your own Hollow inside Careful when worlds collide I'm filling my life With all it can hold Carry it on with pride

Are you sure I'm not all right? Cause lately I've been feeling fine! Every lifeline leads its own way to the heavens But I have seen you run in circles, unforgiven Is there anything in this world that can make you stop?! Oh, you're a machine!

The sun's still above All the rain that's coming down And I can feel the clouds drifting away And now the sky is open wide! Turn the light on, you will see things So much clearer Ohh, but there's no heart Oh, there's no heart, and I've spent all this time feeling Something you can't feel at all! You're a machine! Oh, you're a machine.