

Grey Skies

Josh Kelley

Tired of always playing the part
Caught in the dark
Wasting away
Those stupid people calling our names
Fueling the spark and starting the flame under grey skies

Yeah, your strange and you're beautiful
And you hold your head up high in the middle of a fight
Rearrange and disable the fear you hold inside in the middle of the night

Climbing to the top of the chain
Who is to blame, look where we are
Respect is still the highest regard
And this may be true but now we are caught in the grey skies

Yeah, your strange and you're beautiful
And you hold your head up high in the middle of a fight
Rearrange and disable the fear you hold inside in the middle of the night
Your strange

(Better then you and don't you think about it twice
I don't wanna be here wanna be here all night
And you don't wanna think wanna think wanna think to long)

Yeah, your strange and you're beautiful
And you hold your head up high in the middle of a fight
Rearrange and disable the fear you hold inside in the middle of the night

You're strange and beautiful
Yeah your strangely and beautiful
Yeah your strange
Yeah your strange
Caught in the grey skies

All the strange on the darkest days
Gotta drive that screw
Gotta milk that stage
Time to shine to make the stars align
Dig your own thing
Time to show the world who you really are You're the president
You're a carpenter
Fallen in love
Then you rise above
Then you run for the hill
(Caught in the grey skies)