

Learning You

Josh Kelley

That moon sure takes its time chasing the sun out the sky
Baby I can't wait to see how that twilight reveals you
While I count every star in your eyes
And if it takes all night let me turn every page of your life

Girl, you're gonna love me learning you
Just keep sweet talking me
Girl, not too much this crazy boy won't do
To get all tangled up in your mystery
Yeah, your cotton sheets for a lifetime or two
Oh girl, you're gonna love me learning you

Before I keep falling I need to know just one more thing
Baby like how many kisses before you get tipsy on me
Girl, I'm just dying to see whatever it takes
To get you to trust every move that I'm making now

Girl, you're gonna love me learning you
Just keep sweet talking me
Girl, not too much this crazy boy won't do
To get all tangled up in your mystery
Yeah, your cotton sheets for a lifetime or two
Oh girl, you're gonna love me learning you

Can't wait to find ourselves lost in eachother
So many things I can't wait to discover

Girl, you're gonna love me learning you
Just keep sweet talking me
Girl, not too much this crazy boy won't do
To get all tangled up in your mystery
Yeah, your cotton sheets for a lifetime or two
Oh girl, you're gonna love me learning you

Oh girl, you're gonna love me learning you
