

Moons

Josh Ritter

There are planets you don't know
There are moons that you don't see
Invisibles between the rings of Mars and Mercury

The harbors that they built for the ships to set us free
Sometimes when it's all too much
I know they'll come for me, come for me