Every Moment

Joy Williams

We laughed out loud til we cried And the tears were sweet Midnight melted to morning A moment faded to memory All these days just slip away through our fingers

So... Don't let go Hold onto every moment Always know Hold on to every moment that You can

We move on with no regrets to our destiny Held by the hands of the Father We share His love and He leads us through All these days Cause they slip away through our fingers So...

So... Don't let go Hold onto every moment Always know Hold on to every moment that You can

Running through yesterday into tomorrow Don't let it just drift away Forget about tying the hands of time Give every minute to the One who's given today
