

You can't rely on anything
There's nothing I haven't tried
That choice comes down to me or you
I did what I could to get by
You can't rely on anything
Life has left you dry
It doesn't take a genius
To see what it takes to get by
You can't rely on anyone
From that you can't deny
A pope, a cop, or president
I killed what I had to get by
You can't rely on anyone
As they analyze
The fear they put in your head
I did what I could to get by
One thing you can bet on
This world will get you down one way or the other
I calculate the sound
What they say behind my back leave me never looking at
The way you have to criticize
For what you kill to have
You can't rely on anything
From that you can't deny
This world's too crazy
We have to kill to get by
We have to kill to get by
