

Don't Let Me Down

Julian Lennon

If you look at me you'll see a fragile man
Looking for an open door to bring him back into the light
If you listen to my heart for just one day
You'll hear the sound of love I've found that Disappeared and went away

Don't let me down, there's maybe no tomorrow
Don't let me down, my heart is full of sorrow
Don't let me down, there's little time to borrow
Don't let me down

She was lonely only just the other day
Until we met with no regret
We've found what we'd been searching for
Until she couldn't take the love that we became
Left behind a heart that's blind
And left me standing in the rain

Don't let me down, there's maybe no tomorrow
Don't let me down, my heart is full of sorrow
Don't let me down, there's little time to borrow
Don't let me down

I'm still falling, falling in love again
I can't stop
I won't stop loving
Tomorrow's gone again

If you look at me you'll see a fragile man
Searching for the open door to bring him back into the light

Don't let me down, there's maybe no tomorrow
Don't let me down, my heart is full of sorrow
Don't let me down, there's little time to borrow
Don't let me down

Don't let me down, 'cause there's maybe no tomorrow
Don't let me down, there's maybe no tomorrow
Don't let me down, my heart is full of sorrow
Don't let me down, there's little time to borrow
Don't let me down
