

Where She Lay

Julian Marley

That's where u lay yesterday
Where I left you
There she remains when I get home
That simply means I'm not alone
That's where u lay yesterday where I left you
And she remains when I get home
That simply means I'm not alone

Said she wants to give me love
All night long
And she want me hold her till
The morning comes, curiously
I asked her if she's got someone
Waiting at home
She shook her head
And dimmed the light low
Said she want me soothe her soul
With sweetness repeated

That's where u lay yesterday
Where I left you
There she remains when I get home
That simply means I'm not alone
There she remains when I get home
That simply means I'm not alone

Warm sweet and tender
She was all I needed
Like a bird without feather
As a man without a dream
And now I can overstand why Jah created you
It was to fill those cold and lonely nights
This bed was made for 2

Baby, when I am with you
Starts operate the skies
And the moon light shines for me
And the moon light shines for me
Did you know it girl

Time alone, Only time will tell
Until then I'll play your favorite bell

That's where u lay yesterday
Where I left you
That's where u lay yesterday
Where I left you
There she remains when I get home
That simply means I'm not alone
There she remains when I get home
That simply means I'm never alone