

End Of The World

Juliet Simms

We flew too close to the sun so close I thought it was heaven If hell is a life without love am I being punished for what I've done

The sky's on fire,
All the stars disappear,
no signs of life without you here

Tears will fall
Oceans will rise,
The earth will stop turning
Since you left
every breath feels like it's burning
I know that life will go on
I will survive,
but for tonight
I'd swear on my life
this is the end of the world

Slept on your side of the bed replayed the things that I should have said I wish I had summoned the strength to leave alone what I couldn't change

The sky's on fire
All the world disappears,
no signs of life without you here

Tears will fall
oceans will rise,
I know that life will go on
I will survive,
but for tonight
I'd swear on my life

The sky's on fire
no signs of life without you here

oceans will rise,
I know that life will go on I'll survive,
but for tonight
I'd swear on my life this is the end of the world
