

Chasing The Wind

July For Kings

I held a hand tonight
I held the weight of lies like fire burning holes into a dream The myth of fingerprints disillusionment the ghost of my forgotten queen

You see these strong hands well I cannot hold you I can't hold onto
if you know who I am
don't fall into me
don't fall into me now

I held another night in revealing light for all to see the stains left on my skin

I push the sound away and steal another day so we can justify our sins

You see these strong hands
well I cannot hold you
I can't hold onto
if you know who I am
don't fall into me
don't fall into me now

If you're dreaming you will wake
we're chasing the wind
we're chasing the wind
if you're floating take the weight
we're chasing the wind
chasing the wind.

I held a hand tonight
I held the weight of lies like fire ripping holes into a dream

The bells are ringing now the bells will show me how to keep this from stinging to keep this from staining

If you're dreaming you will wake
we're chasing the wind
we're chasing the wind
if you're floating take the weight
we're chasing the wind
chasing the wind
chasing the wind
chasing the wind

Take off the face of delusion can you feel the holes in my hands?
I saw her ghost in my head now now I live, now I stand

Make me the glow of white candles make me the sound of black keys I heard the ghost in my head can you feel the holes in my feet?
can you feel the holes in my feet?

If you're dreaming you will wake
we're chasing the wind
we're chasing the wind
if you're floating take the weight
we're chasing the wind
chasing the wind
chasing the wind
chasing the wind