

Every time I turn the TV on
See another pretty face on the screen
Feels like I'm not good enough
To be on the cover of a magazine

Turn around, I look I the mirror
And I wonder if I'll ever measure up
All I want is someone to make it clearer
Am I ever gonna find the perfect love?

Then You break through the madness
And You tell me how it is...

You're a diamond that shines
One of a kind
A shimmering radiant star
You're a flower in the rain
Wonderfully made
To shine like the sun
You're a diamond

Friends try and tell me just to loosen up a little
You're gonna scare the good ones away
Get a look with a hook, it's fundamental
Come on girl, you gotta get into the game

Something deep inside of me says
Are you sure that you really want to play?
Gotta trust your heart and not your head
Instead of buying into the masquerade

I'm not some decoration
So would you tell me how it is...

Don't matter if they tell you how to live
Don't matter if they try and mold you
Don't matter if they say what beautiful is
You're a diamond cause He already showed you
