

Just Don't Let Go

June

It's been pulling since I chose this heavy weight
There's only one thing that I'm missing these days
I can hope it wasn't a lie when every night I hear you'd wait forever for me

California has its time but it's always keeping you from my side
New York is nothing like your bedroom
And outside oh I could hear you screaming

You are not alone
So hold on and don't let go
You are not alone
I see your course you can't control

I can feel your face in front of me
Please don't let this get the best of me
And I lay back down cause we're coming home tonight
(We're coming home tonight, we're coming home tonight)

California has its time but it's always keeping you from my side
New York is nothing like your bedroom
And outside oh I could hear you screaming

You are not alone
So hold on tight and don't let go
You are not alone
I see your course you can't control

I'm still striving for everything and anything
I'm still starving for you (starving for you)

I'm still striving for everything and anything, baby
I'm still starving for you (starving for you)

We can make it out this time
We won't stop until our lives are...
We can make it out this time
We won't stop

It's been pulling since I chose this heavy weight
Getting closer to the day until we can have our way
We can have our way

And California has its time but it's always keeping you from my side

You are not alone
So hold on tight and don't let go
You are not alone
I see your course you can't control

You are not alone
So hold on tight and don't let go
You are not alone
I see your course you can't control
