

Moon Won't Turn

Jupiter One

And the moon won't turn
No matter how hard i stare and the dead won't rise
No matter how much i love surprises
The couch won't walk
And the windows will never talk
And the moon won't turn

Gravity keeps me from flying to you

And the world won't wait
Don't bother to check the time and the streets won't burn

No matter how fast we take the turns
And i can't stop time

The reluctance is in the rhyme
And the moon won't turn

Gravity keeps me from flying to you
Gravity keeps me from doing most of the the things i'd like to do

In my head we should be falling
So we walk back up to the beginning and we do it again
In my bed sometimes i feel like falling
But it's feet over head
Six feet over my head
