Strange Teacher

Jupiter One

Rainbow, rainbow, doing what you know None of us can tell you what to do or when to show Sunset, sunset, wipes the rainbow clean And makes the loudest noise I've ever seen You can turn me into that Teacher, teacher, I'm old enough to learn You told me that the rainbow never speaks before its turn Stranger, stranger, tell me what you see When I look in the mirror I see myself so differently You can turn me into that You return me to another time When I was a crewman on a Syrian line Once in a while your laugh would reach me across a thousand ocean miles
