

Forgotten Not Forgiven

Just Surrender

I'm watching your eyes move slowly up and down my silhouette
And I wonder if you get it yet
This is the last time I crawl away on these broken knees
And don't you wish it all would be okay

Promise me you'll forget me
You said as you walked away
Don't hold on please let go of me
You make it so hard to leave

And I can't breath without you here for fear I'll catch your scent
And we both know how bad I get I don't do well or dwell in change
Don't you know that three small words could make this all okay

Promise me you'll forget me
You said as you walked away
Don't hold on please let go of me
You make it so hard to leave

You promised me
You'll never forget me
You promised me
You'll never forget me
