

In Your Blue Eyes

Justin Hayward

In Your Blue Eyes

Across the sky so clear so frozen
And the sea so green so grey
I turn to face a new tomorrow
But darkest fears still haunt today

But stars exploding in the sky
And the I see my face appearing
In your blue eyes

I only live when you're beside me
Only cry when your away
And if you leave I will be broken
Like a fool my heart gives way

Stars exploding in the sky
And the I see my face appearing
In your blue eyes, in your blue eyes

And now I ride into the sunrise
Now I kneel before your door
I only pray that you'll receive me
And open wide your glorious halls

Stars exploding in the sky
And the I see my face appearing
In your blue eyes

I touch your skin so soft and tender
Touch your mouth as you let go
And then I watch as you surrender
Take you down to heaven below

Stars exploding in the sky
And the I see my face appearing
In your blue eyes, in your blue eyes
In your blue eyes, in your blue eyes