

One Again

Justin Hayward

Why worry? It's alright,
I'm with you through the night,
I've listened to your dreams,
I feel the presence that you've seen.

Step out of the darkness
And into the light.
The words of the promise
That was made were right:

No tears and no trouble,
No heartache, no pain.
I know that we're going to be one again.

Still waters run so deep,
The world listens when you speak.
One nation of the free
All believing that there'll be

No troubles, no hunger,
No heartache, no pain.
I know that we're living to be one again.
Walk out of the darkness
And into the sun,
And wake to the morning

When we live as one.
Step out of the darkness
And into the light.
The fire that we've kindled

Is burning bright.
The dawn of tomorrow
Comes back to today.
We'll capture that moment
And we'll fly away.