

Above The Code

Justin Vernon

I'm sittin' by the wavepool laughing
Making creed and your cool shades flashin'
(You're a baby, I guess that's why they say these things)
And then mo-town came to life
With people's babies all holdin' them tight
(And a Detroit voice, it has made my choice up)

And the box are all scattered the hood
The station's there, we could go buy food
(These are times, that keep our body coming way too cool)
The hottest evening I've ever had, with sweaty hands not even m akin' me sad
(And you're touching me, there's a first time for nearly everyt hing)

And the imagery of genes and feeling is the imagery of love and needing
It's above the code
And the masonry of modern dealings
Goes beyond the stuff that is, worth keepin'

(Whistling)
La, la, la, la, la, la, la
(Whistling)
La, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, la

And the symmetry of genes and feeling is the imagery of love an d meaning
It's above the code
And the masonry of modern dealings goes beyond the stuff that i s
Worth keepin'

The things that I knew at birth are coming back to me in a burs t
(Like they were hidden by a different kind of mind)
The way that God was painted to me,
Up in heaven, in the sky where I could not be
What is wrong with Earth?
Are you scared that death is the end?
