Now And Forever

They're always running around Telling me I should be free But there's no kind of way I'd let them take your love from me

You see I'm not one who goes on Speculation hearsay gossip But I'm a firm believer In trusting caring and loving

My love for you is so timeless It's deeper than the depth of emotion And everyday goes by I am finding The reasons that I love you more and more

Now and forever will I love you and be true Now and forever will I keep what we have new I will cherish, adore you Trust and give my all to you

Now and forever will I always love you I'm not entrusted in starting all over again To give you up on someone's words It's not something I'd do

You see you can tell a tree By the fruit that it bears And from where I stand I see my field is yielding

Wish we could sail away on an ocean Float away on midnight dreams And we don't need a magic potion So we can live inside our dreams

Now and forever will I love you and be true Now and forever will I keep what we have new I will cherish, adore you Trust and give my all to you

Now and forever will I always love you You're everything I want in a lover You're everything I need in a friend yes you are You're the shoulder that I'm leaning and depending on

And I could never hurt you You're everything to me
