

Sing It Loud

k.d. lang

You were there playing in the sunshine
Imagination going into overtime
There's no way the world could weigh you down
The story in your eyes
Spoke of all the things you realize and dream

Then the days went by like a freight train
Moving fast through the prairie grain
No one ever did explain
You got it on your own
Such a privilege to see you become

Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud
So everyone knows
Who you are

Stood by and I watched you make choices
Bit my tongue when I saw you taking chances
Watched you go through a string of romances
Still I never had a doubt
I always knew you knew who you were

When the days grow dark with confusion
You can always give your burdens to the music
And even when I'm gone
There is a song that will play on and on and on

So, sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud
So everyone knows
Who you are

Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud
So everyone knows
Who you are

Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud, sing it
Sing it loud, sing it, sing it, sing it loud
So you can remember
Who you are
