Butterflies Instead

K's Choice

I lock the door and lock my head And dream of butterflies instead The beauty of their colored wings The trees, the grass and pretty things Imagination fills the void of my existence

Daddy says "I love you girl, it's not your fault Your mom and me don't get along" I know he's lying, I know there's no such thing as Inexplicable I hear, forget, this world in bed And suddenly the sun comes up That's when my pets all come alive They cheer me up and tell me

Everything's alright Stuffed animals are always right

My favorite song, my favorite show I wonder if they even know Or if they care or if they even notice I am standing there I want my pets to come alive And cheer me up and tell me

Everything's alright Stuffed animals are always right Everything's alright Stuffed animals are always right Alright...

My eyes all red, the baby's wet And someone has to get that phone I want my pets to come alive and Cheer me up and tell me

Alright...

I lock the door and lock my head And dream of butterflies instead
