

God Must've Sent You

K-Young

I knew that I was destined for a change
When I looked you in your eyes you enticed my brain
When you sat across my table
You made a real impression
After all the chicks that I stuck it in my only confession is