

You Really Take My Breath Away

Kajagoogo

I need to take a look round till I understand what's the good I've found I need to, just as you like it alright and I can hear you talking aloud in the voice I've grown so accustomed to I can hear you, just as you like it alright are you feeling alone, are you lonely there's a place in my arms for you only you're holding the beat that my heart keeps missing every day

You really take my breath away

This fever can burn you alive if you lose your feet or the will to survive this fever can burn you alive now alright unaware of mistakes you are making I'm temporarily here for the taking competition is hot and the odds get thinner every day

you really take my breath away

Apart from the vast complications we're both aware of the list of temptations too bad that we could not trust in each others feelings every day