

They Will Return

Kalmah

Rhythm of wings in the sky so high
Music in my ears I can't wait to see
I'm hiding in the grass death in my hands
Surprise is my only defence

My private war against wilderness
Human mastermind versus animal instinct
And when the flock settles I pass my sentence
But none will die after the report

They rise into the air and fly away

But they will return
And I am all alone
Yeah, they will return
Then I will revenge

Still some day I'm hiding again
Waiting for the sound of stroking wings
And they will come spirit within
And in same place I miss them again

They rise into the air
And fly away
Yeah, they rise into the air
But...they will return!
