How My Soul Cries Out for You

Kansas

The night was cold, was deja-vu I went on thinking we were too How my soul cries out for you

To many places we once knew To many faces, still no clue How my soul cries out for you

I didn't think I needed you when I got out on my own Dead set on having my way I was convinced that I was right and you were wrong Then I started thinkin' to myself Well maybe what they say is true How could we get so turned around when you needed me As much as I needed you...

I tried to get you on the phone
No one answered, no one answered at home
I heard that you thought we were through Somethin' I had, somethin' I had to do and How my soul cries for you

How my soul cries out for you It cries for love that we once knew How my soul cries out for you
