In Your Eyes

Seal no fate and hold no key When all goes well spend some time remembering Know by now that times have changed But we feel each day can be deeper deeper

It might be raining now But don't be scared you won't drown I'll hold you in my arms when the rivers rise Lay my heart besides your soul Don't let the tears blur the vision in your eyes

Once my eyes get used to the dark I look around it's almost like I'm dreaming Shooting stars how they seem so close I feel your body it's moving breathing

Kansas