

What happened to our culture?
Suddenly all of us became products of our environment.
With the aim of individuality, mobility, flexibility and effect ivity - our anxiety expands.
The vampire kisses and we are infected one by one.
Solipsistic ideas turn into a romantic term.
Is this a symptom of a common sense rebellion towards our surro undings or are we the enemy?
Ask yourself.
Death is a welcome result.
And remember did you have your pill today?
