Process Is Set

Kaospilot

Mankind is measure. This process is set. We cry for a change - we call for a change. But without movement we stand still. This is a face of a speechless subject. These faces are killing. Monologue without meaning: "for all the what is - and what is n ot" We kill the day without an attempt. The progress is dead before the second try. Who dares wins. In that moment our actions will define us.