

Didn't You See The Movie

Kari Kimmel

Heaven hold me, this feels lonely
A girl might have only one dream that means the world
I asked the waiter, could he save her
Would he leave her there, would he want her to stay
Would he pick up all the pieces, or leave her alone to break

Can you tell me what happens in this scene
I've think I've watched, this one before
Is this the part where you come back for me
Did you read those lines, did you see how it ends
Won't you come back, will you try to love again

Say goodbye now, I won't cry now
The room has cleared, the last man just walked out the door
Now I realise what I'm still standing here waiting for

Can you tell me what happens in this scene
I've think I've watched, this one before
Is this the part where you come back for me
Did you read those lines, did you see how it ends
Won't you come back, will you try to love again

Didn't you see the movie
Where he realises he still needs her
Did you read the story where he chases her down all through the town
Cause she's the best thing that he ever had
He ever had

Can you tell me what happens in this scene
I've think I've watched, this one before
Is this the part where you come back for me
Did you read those lines, did you see how it ends
Won't you come back, will you try to love again

Didn't you see the movie
