

Out Of Focus

Kari Kimmel

I bite my tongue and wait for you come,
I don't have much time.
The train is coming my way.
This doesn't feel right you say the same.
So why are we going our separate ways?
Where will I have a day without,
Images of you and I are all that I see
Everything's out of focus.
All the colors, every dream are
Coming together they all melt into you.
I fall apart the moment that you walk into my room i,
Come crumbling down.
I finally have all the words to say but they just got stuck,
I'm too damn afraid.
Nothing can take away these,
Images of you and I are all that I see everything's out of focus.
All the colors, every dream are coming together,
They all melt into you.
I try so hard to forget your love,
But I fall deeper into the sea.
The more that I try and run away,
More of you comes back to me.
Nothing can take away these,
Images of you and I are all that I see everything's out of focus.
All the colors, every dream are coming together,
They all melt into you.
Into you.
They all melt into you.
Into you.
Yeah, yeah, yeah.