

Hide underneath bridges

Kari Rueslåtten

Going down to the river again
In the darkness I found a friend
I never knew I had
The water felt cold and stale reminiscent of a long gone tale
I forgot who I was...
Right now, it is so hard to let go, blinding lights won't show the way out of here

I hide underneath bridges
Hide in the shadows
Finding a rescue so brief
I hide underneath bridges,
Hide in the darkness
Fearing the light like a thief

Late night I hear the wind blows, calling out about the life I chose,
waiting for a relief
Still looking for that special place
I could ease the pain with grace and recall who I was
I fear I will never let go
The blinding lights won't show the way out here

I hide underneath bridges
Hide in the shadows,
Finding a rescue so brief
I hide underneath bridges,
Hide in the darkness
Fearing the light like a thief

I know I'll always hear the wind blow
Maybe one day it will show the way out of here...
