Stockholm Snow

Karin Park

Dance by my window, so I can see your face Cause I am locked in here and the key is on the outside It's almost morning and all the stockholm snow Is falling on your head and on your window

I won't be forever wanted here And the sun shall shine on me sometime this year As I try to find your way

You look like a snowman without the carrotnose And the jacket that I told you, you looked nice in You said that all you wanted was to dance, So come on melt the ice outside my window
