

I Suppose

Karmin

Have you noticed how the messages are sent
Does it bother you that maybe we are meant
To be more than just a casual notion
Though there's not too much that we can go on
I suppose
You could only leave me wanting
I suppose
Everything could fall apart but
I suppose
You could give me everything oh
All the things I ever needed, I suppose
Every other time my plans have fallen through
Slowly fading to a duller shade of blue
Is the risk one that I'm willing to take
Why is love always so fake
I suppose
You could only leave me wanting
I suppose
Everything could fall apart but
I suppose
You could give me everything oh
All the things I ever needed, I suppose
Everything could fall apart
Something good could finally start
After all I been through, do you even know
All the things I long for, all the things I feel
Are you for real, are you for real
I suppose
You could only leave me wanting
I suppose
Everything could fall apart but
I suppose
You could give me everything oh
All the things I ever needed, I suppose
I suppose
Everything could fall apart but
I suppose
You could give me everything oh
All the things I ever needed, I suppose