

Sewn and Silent

Karnivool

I'm touching you and tearing back, and dreaming of your life
I wanted to be hurting shallow eyes

Not to mention I'm falling, dreaming
What is wrong with silencing my thoughts?
You were there, and you weren't designed for what they're selling

Slow down, take time, let it heal
Hide your face from mine

I'd follow you entwined, my bleeding eyes are sewn blind
Fade away, if you reach this in two minds
Not to mention I'm dreaming, falling short Sell me away that this is real
Saving me, settle down, and I will fall upon thee
In this happiness I'm so damn lonely.

Slow down, take time, let it heal
Hide your face from mine

Slow down, take time, let it heal
Hide your face from mine

It's too late to find, body and mind,
Another reason holds you there, spit it out, cause I feel this love has gone astray Darling you'll have to promise me that you won't turn around
Just as well I'm burning down
You take me away.
